

APPLICATION FOR BIOKNOWLEDGE WRITING WORKSHOPS UP TO $500

This initiative is to enable Bioknowledge research teams to hold up to three writing workshops per year whereby participants remove themselves to a suitable location for two or three days of concentrated collaborative writing. The purpose is to promote a lively research culture and strengthen collaborative research among Bioknowledge members and with other researchers and institutions. Workshops should involve at least two Bioknowledge members (academic staff and/or research students). The funding is for accommodation and travel costs only.

Funding is competitive and will be allocated by the Bioknowledge Steering committee. Applications must be lodged with the Research Leaders, Duncan Mackay & Mike Schwarz.
